August 14, 2023

IRVINE, CA / ACCESSWIRE / August 14, 2023 / Netlist, Inc. (OTCQB:NLST), a pioneer in high performance memory technology, today announced the entry of a Final Judgment in the case of Netlist v. Samsung Electronics Co. Ltd. et al. (EDTX Case No. 2:21-cv-00463-JRG) in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Texas.

The Court's Final Judgment upheld the jury's verdict in the April 2023 trial and confirmed that Samsung willfully infringed Netlist's patented technologies. Chief Judge Gilstrap ordered Netlist receive $303,150,000 as a reasonable royalty for Samsung's infringement of Netlist's patents for a limited past damages period.

Netlist was further awarded pre and post-judgment interest in addition to costs as the prevailing party in the action. This Final Judgment encompasses both the verdict in the jury trial, and the Court's ruling in the May 30, 2023 bench trial which is currently sealed due to the inclusion of confidential information. As noted in the Final Judgment, Samsung did not prevail on any of its equitable defenses in the bench trial. The Court's Final Judgment is available at www.netlist.com.

"Our patents in this case cover semiconductor technologies such as HBM and DDR5 that are foundational to generative AI computing. The jury's recognition of willful infringement and the substantial damages awarded underscore the significance of our innovations and the importance of protecting U.S. intellectual property," stated Chuck Hong, CEO of Netlist. "In advance of the Final Judgment Netlist chose not to seek any enhancement as to past damages. Netlist is confident that the Court's ruling in this case will remain intact through any post-judgment motions and appeal."

Netlist's second case against Samsung in the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Texas is scheduled to go to trial in April 2024 for infringement on a different set of patents.
